

Asier San Millán, SIDEREX

He has a degree in Business Studies, specializing in Business Marketing and International Trade. He developed his professional career at AGRAGEX, the Spanish Association of Agricultural Machinery as a Trade Technician.

He currently holds the position of Managing Director at SIDEREX (Basque Steel Cluster), where his responsibilities include the internal management of the Association, strategy planning, control and organization of resources, and managing institutional relationships with the business environment and other counterparts.